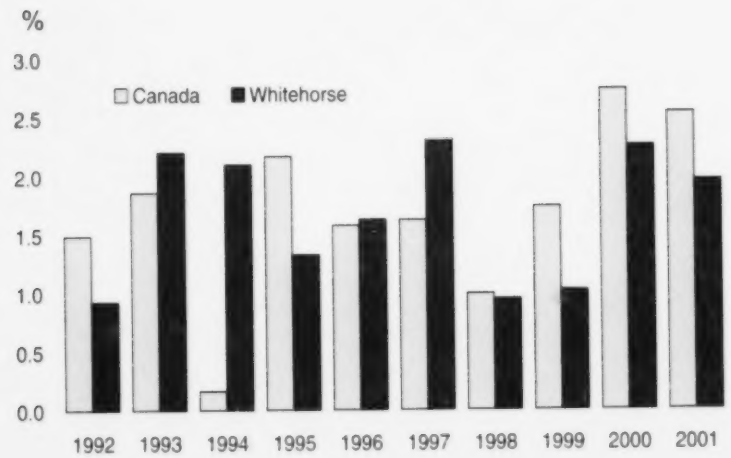
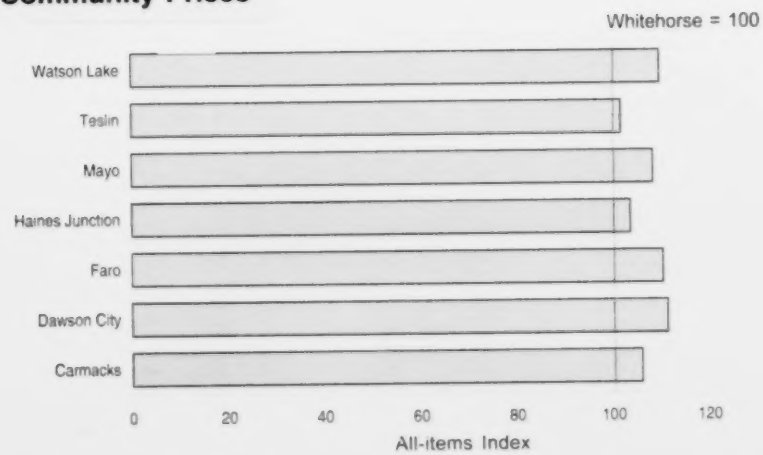
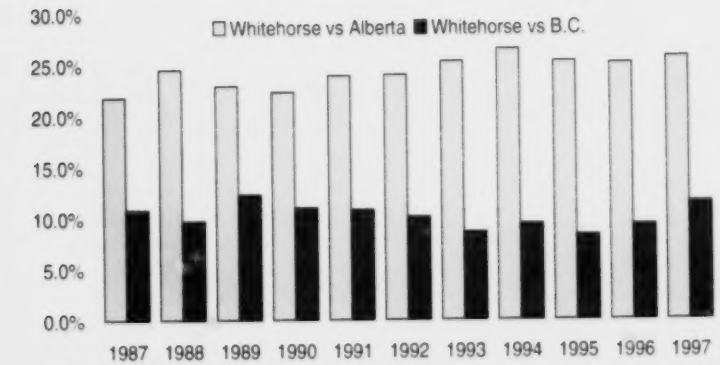
Inflation



Community Prices



Spatial Price Index



This table shows the percentage by which Whitehorse prices are higher than Alberta and British Columbia prices.

HIGHLIGHTS

- From 1992 to 2001, Whitehorse's inflation rate fluctuated from a high of 2.3% in 1997 and 2000 to a low of 0.9% in 1992 and 1998. The Whitehorse inflation rate was lower than the Canada rate for 1992, 1995 and 1998-2001. In 1993,1994 and 1997 the Whitehorse rate was higher than the national rate. The 2001 inflation rate was 2.0% for Whitehorse and 2.5% for Canada.

See page 33 for detailed data.

- In October 2001, prices for all items were highest in Dawson City (at 111.5) and lowest in Whitehorse (at 100.0). Teslin's prices were closest to Whitehorse's (at 101.9).

See page 37 for detailed data.

- Prices in Whitehorse are much closer to prices in British Columbia than they are to prices in Alberta. Over the years 1987 to 1997, Whitehorse prices were 24.3 percent (on average) more expensive than prices in Alberta. They were only 10.2 percent more expensive than British Columbia for the same period.

See page 38 for detailed data.

Table Guide

Statistics presented in each table of the Review provide a monthly, quarterly and annual summary of information. When monthly data are available, statistics are displayed for the preceding fifteen months. The latest twelve months are highlighted.

Quarterly data are located immediately below the monthly figures. In general, quarterly data are either the average of the monthly statistics or, as appropriate, the sum of monthly data. Quarterly statistics cover an approximate four-month period. The latest quarters are highlighted.

At the bottom of the table annual figures are displayed. Depending on the statistics presented, annual data may be either the average or the sum of monthly data. Previous years of data are presented, with the latest year highlighted.

Below the annual data the source of the data and, as appropriate, notes regarding the table are detailed.

Notes: For 1994 and earlier the column "Porter Creek" includes both Hillcrest apartments and Porter Creek apartments. Starting in March, 1995 Hillcrest and Porter Creek apartments are reported separately as well as Granger apartments. (They were not reported previously but were included in the calculation of the figures in the "Whitehorse Total" column.) Takhini became part of the rental survey in the third quarter of 2000.

Note:

The establishment of Nunavut has impacted the level of detail available for Yukon retail sales figures. As of the first quarter of 1999 Statistics Canada is no longer releasing the quarterly data on the sale of "Recreational and Motor Vehicles" in the Yukon. Statistics Canada's policy on confidentiality limits not only the smallest grouping that can be reported, but also requires further suppression to prevent "residual disclosure." Because Nunavut's numbers cannot be released due to confidentiality restrictions, and because Yukon has the second-lowest number of business establishments in this classification, under this policy Yukon's numbers must also be suppressed. The Yukon Bureau of Statistics is in contact with Statistics Canada to resolve this situation.

Note: *Total includes non-residents and residents; not included in this table are Canadians entering the Yukon from another province or territory. Due to a change in Canada Customs reporting procedures, there is no longer a distinction between Yukon residents and other Canadians. The figures have been revised back to 1997 and Canada Customs is working on re-instating the distinction between Yukon travellers and other Canadians.

Source: Statistics Canada CANSIM II: Table 405-0004, no. 2747. CANSIM I series were terminated with the 1998 data; present data may not be compared with previous data.
Note: Passenger vehicles, light trucks and SUVs weigh less than 4,500 kg; vehicles between 4,500 and 14,999 kg would include larger utility vehicles, but not those typically used on a farm; vehicles over 15,000 would include semi-trailers and cement trucks; snow machines are included in the "off-road, construction, farm vehicles" category. Passenger automobiles include taxis and rental vehicles. "In force" means all motor vehicle registrations that were valid in the calendar year. Total "In force" road registrations includes other registrations than those listed.
